PREFACE

This bibliography contains selected references, with annotations, to literature on nonurban land ownership and certain related subjects which appeared during the period 1900 to the middle of 1951. Although most of the material represented is in English, many items in foreign languages likewise have been included.

Special emphasis has been placed upon abandoned farms, absentee ownership, father and son partnerships and agreements, inheritance, land grants, public lands, subsistence homesteads, tax-reverted lands, titles, and transfer.

The bibliography is arranged according to a subject classification. References giving broad coverage to their subject, or dealing with more than one country, are grouped under the heading "General." Within each subject classification, entries are arranged alphabetically by author, or by title where no author is given. Separate author and subject indexes have been provided. When subjects in the index have been divided geographically, political subdivisions of a country have been put under the country except States of the United States which appear in their alphabetical places. Items not examined are marked with an asterisk (*). Call numbers are those of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Library.

This bibliography was initiated in the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and compiled in the Library of the Department of Agriculture. Acknowledgment is made of the assistance given by Marshall D. Harris of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Microfilm or photoprint copies of any listed items which are in the U. S. Department of Agriculture Library may be ordered from its Copying Service at the following rates:

MICROFILMS: $1.00 for each 50 pages or fraction thereof from a single article or book.

PHOTOPRINTS: $1.00 for each 10 pages or fraction thereof from a single article or book.

Studies trends in farm ownership and in the size of farms.

51. BORSODI, R. Land tenure. Amer. Rev. 7:556-563. Oct. 1936. 110 Am33

Criticizes the existing system of land tenure in the United States on the ground that it has not sufficiently encouraged home ownership. Suggests the gradual substitution of leasehold for freehold ownership.

52. BOYLE, J. E. Agricultural economics. Ed.3, rev. Philadelphia, Lippincott, 1928. 519 p. 281 B69

Ch. 5, Land tenure, deals with the various types of tenancy, corporation farming, mortgages, the Torrens system of land titles, and the proposed certification of land.

53. BRANDT, K. Farm tenancy in the United States. Social Res. 4:133-156. 1937. 280.8 So19

Considers tenancy as frequently a means for maintaining farm property in the same family, pending the owner's operation, and thinks that it may have considerable merit as long as it is a supplement to ownership and provides a certain elasticity.

54. BRANDT, K. Toward a more adequate approach to the farm tenure program. J. Farm Econ. 24:206-225. Feb.1942. 280.8 J822

Summarizes the most obvious defects of the existing land tenure system, and feels that any effective tenure reform must be based on our experience and the experience of other countries and other eras.

55. BRANNAN, C. F. Hemispheric strength through a mutually prosperous agriculture. Washington, U.S.D.A., Off. Sec., 1950. 9 p. 1.91 A2B73
